

WesleyNexus

Science and Religion within the Wesleyan Tradition

A Theological Discourse on Suffering and Evil

The Rev. Dr. Thomas Jay Oord, Ph.D., theologian, philosopher, scholar, and award-winning author, will be speaking on Sunday, October 13th from 5 – 7 PM at Trinity United Methodist Church in Germantown, Maryland. A gifted speaker, he is known for his contributions to research on love, open and relational theology, science and religion, and the implications of freedom and relationships for transformation.

*The usual answers to evil do not solve the questions we ask:
If God is so loving and so powerful, why doesn't God prevent unnecessary suffering and pointless pain?*

In his talk, "God Can't Stop Evil Singlehandedly," Thomas Jay Oord gives an unusual answer to that question. Oord shares the five-fold answer that he has championed in his best-selling book, God Can't: How to Believe in God and Love After Tragedy, Abuse, and Other Evils (SacraSage 2019).

"God Can't Stop Evil Singlehandedly"

Rev. Dr. Thomas Jay Oord, Ph.D.

Sunday, October 13th, 5 – 7 PM

Trinity United Methodist Church

13700 Schaeffer Road, Germantown, Maryland

Sponsored by WesleyNexus, Inc., a 501 (c)(3) charitable organization. WesleyNexus is dedicated to the dissemination of sound information about religious faith and science in the 21st century, with specific grounding in the Wesleyan tradition.

All are welcome. Reception following presentation.

www.wesleynexus.org